

Call for Posters: Colloquium on Open Data & Research Futures

*Accepting proposals until 5pm Oct 23
Poster session begins at 4pm Oct 29*

Carnegie Mellon University Libraries and Pitt's University Library System are hosting a Colloquium on Open Data & Research Futures on October 29, from 4-6pm in CMU's Mellon Institute, 4400 5th Ave.

The panel and poster session will explore the Open Movement as it relates to scholarly data by bringing together players who facilitate, require and use open data.

Seeking posters

The organizing committee seeks posters from CMU and Pitt faculty, staff and students that showcase the use of open data in a research project. Posters can be from any discipline. Posters should focus on in-progress or recently completed projects involving open data.

To sign up

Email your poster title, author(s), department (if applicable), and a 1-3 sentence project description to Anne Marie Mesco, mesco@andrew.cmu.edu no later than 5 pm, October 23. We will respond to all proposals within 24 hours of this deadline.

Questions?

Contact Lisa Zilinski, ldz@andrew.cmu.edu.